Georgia's foster care agencies are struggling to make ends meet with the recent budget cuts. Georgia has already implemented a 6% cut in funding, and these cuts are expected to move to 10% due to the state of the economy. The children that we serve are going to hurt more than these cuts suggest.

How can you help?

Donate just one dollar and spread the word! If every single person who subscribes to our newsletter donated a dollar, and then forwarded this to 10 of their friends and family who also donated a dollar, Creative Community Services (CCS) would have more than $5,000 in donations for our foster care program!

If everyone in the metro Atlanta area donated JUST one dollar, CCS would have almost a million dollars for our foster care program!

What we do:

Creative Community Services provides Therapeutic Foster Care (TFC) to Georgia's youth. Most people think that foster care is basic room, board and adult supervision. But many foster children have severe problems related to emotional disturbances, mental retardation, or mental illness. In contrast, TFC provides individual attention for troubled children by a team of consultants, therapists, DFCS workers, foster parents and other team members when necessary. TFC is a combination of services that offers the foster child the opportunity for life-altering learning, unconditional love, safety and security. For many children, TFC is often their last chance they have of being placed with a family in a community setting.
